New Construction Project Slated for Downtown

Ron Brugger

By Lynn Carver

If you've traveled through downtown Romulus lately, you've no doubt noticed that the area on the north side of Goddard Road, between Sterling Street and Romulus Video, has been leveled in apparent anticipation of new construction.

Ron Brugger, a Romulus businessman for the past 10 years, is the prime force behind this immense activity. The 49-year-old owner of both Romulus Auto Parts (36542 Goddard) and Romulus Video (36724 Goddard) was asked, in a recent interview, to detail his plans for this area.

"Basically," said Brugger, "my autoparts business has outgrown its current building, so I'm going to build a larger structure for that operation. Also, I'm going to put up a smaller rental building in conjunction with the new auto-parts store." Brugger added that the new structures will cover 5,000 and 1,000 square feet, respectively. In addition, 40 new offstreet parking spaces will be incorporated within the new site.

When asked about a time-frame for the construction phase, Brugger replied, "I expect to give a contractor the okay to begin work this week. Then, if everything falls into place, it all should be completed by the first part of next year."

A Taylor resident, Brugger opened his auto-parts business in 1982 after recognizing the commercial potential of downtown Romulus. In 1984, he began his video store, and, two years later, he opened a tanning salon just next-door to the video store.

Said Brugger, "Romulus Tanning is now owned by my daughter Lindsey, and I'm happy to say that she's doing very well there."

Before Brugger could break ground on his current project, he had to buy four houses that stood between Sterling and the video store.

"In 1986," he explained, "I purchased three of the houses. Then, when I bought the last house about two or three years ago, my goal of this expansion, and the additional construction, really started to become a concrete reality."

Brugger hopes that his investment of new commercial monies into Romulus will thereby attract other retailers to the City, especially the downtown area. He also stated that if the community continues to support his businesses, he would like to expand his overall operations by adding more retail stores to better serve the people of Romulus.

"As with any project such as this," said Brugger, "there's bound to be a number of 'nay-sayers,' but I just wanted to somehow better our community.

"And," he concluded, "I especially want to thank the people of Romulus for supporting me throughout the years." □

Local Office Building Hit by "Stink Bomb"

By Ray Tolman

When employees of the various businesses located in the office complex at 10000 Wayne Road arrived at work on the morning of Tuesday, September 15, they were faced with a smelly situation.

Apparently, some person or persons had drilled a hole into a wall facing onto a common hallway in the building, and then sprayed in a substantial amount of two chemicals which, when mixed, emit a noxious, vomit-like smell.

Although the pungent odor permeated the entire complex, Linda Spray, director of the Northland Family Planning Clinic, is convinced that the so-called "stink bomb" was directed solely toward the clinic, which is located on the building's first floor.

Said Spray, "This same tactic has been used by anti-abortion groups in several parts of the Country. Last year, the same thing happened in a Planned Parenthood facility in Ann Arbor. Although that clinic had to be completely redone, we had to close our doors only one day."

The stink bomb caused a number of the building's occupants to become ill, forcing them to leave the premises.

Attorney Murray Duncan, whose office is located on the second floor of the complex, expressed concern as to whether breathing the foul air would cause a health hazard to the building's tenants. Duncan was interviewed in his office on the day following the incident.

"What you smell today," he stated, "is only about half as bad as it was yesterday. Right now, we're all waiting to find out what chemicals were used here. We could be breathing some very dangerous fumes."

It was later determined that the chemical fumes, though offensive, were

According to Spray, the carpeting in the Northland Family Planning offices had to be removed. A strong deodorant is now being used to help neutralize the odor, she said.

At this point, Romulus police have no suspects in the case. □

New Member Sought for Romulus Cable Commission

With the retirement Ray Williams Sr. from the Romulus Cable Commission, the City of Romulus is looking for applicants to fill the vacancy.

According to Marvin Scanlon, Chairman of the Commission, applicants for the position should reside in the north end of Romulus. All parties interested in applying for the Commission seat should do so through City Council within the next month.

Said Scanlon, "The Cable Commission is a group that works for the citizens of Romulus. Its main duties are to enforce the franchise agreement between Omnicom Cablevision and the City, and to attempt to work out any problems which may arise between Omnicom and the citizens of Romulus."

The Lighter Slice

Something Nice

By Tom Shamanski

Her name was Dianne and she had soft, light-brown hair and sunny blue eyes that sparkled like tiny clusters of diamonds. In the hall, when we would pass and she would smile, I was certain that, if I lived to be as old as my mom and dad, I would never see a more radiantly pretty face.

Dianne had a bubbly, vivacious, warm beauty about her that, two years later, would have her pictured in our senior yearbook as "class personality."

Back then, I was on the football team. While practicing after school, with the late-August sun burning my lungs and tapping my strength, I would still chance a look beyond our coach, and I would see her. Baton in hand, she whirled in front of the marching band as its members – knees thrust waist-high – practiced our school's fight song.

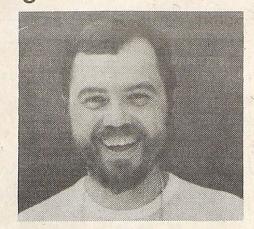

For the first time in my 15 years of life, I was in love. Never mind that, at that age, if you went steady with someone for an entire month, your relationship was considered, by all your friends, to be permanent. Never mind that this was something that grown-ups would smile tenderly about, and playfully call "puppy love."

And, for me, never mind that, when football practice was over, I walked home alone. And when band practice was over, Dianne was driven home by Bill, a senior who had his own car.

None of that mattered – not even the apparent fact that Dianne was most happy when she was with Bill. At 15, I just knew that, somehow, Dianne and I would get together. . . . and that we would be together for the rest of our lives.

And then, four months later, something happened. Bill's dad was suddenly transferred by his company to California... Mountain View, California.

For awhile, when I'd see Dianne, her eyes were dim and her laughter seemed lost.

But, some time later, on a Monday, with my heart throbbing furiously in my ears, I asked her if she would like to go with me to next Friday night's dance. As she looked up into my eyes, the corners of her mouth rose slightly. Her voice soft, she said yes, that would be nice.

For the next full year, I loved and adored that girl with an intensity that I'd neverfelt before—or since—and my soul was soothed, knowing that she felt the same way about me. No matter what the adults said, at 16, love is love—not puppy love.

But then, Bill and his family moved back to town. Soon, my eyes began to dim and my laughter was lost, and my stomach began to hurt a lot.

Not long ago, I called Dianne after learning that she and Bill had divorced some years ago. I asked her if she would like to have dinner, and she said yes, that would be nice.

When I picked her up, I could see that she was still pretty and still warm, but her eyes had lost their sparkle. Although I tried very hard, I couldn't hear any pounding in my ears.

After dinner and a lot of very small talk, I quickly drove her home and walked her to her door. Oh, did I want to come in for coffee? Gee, I'd better not; got to get up early, you know. Yes, me too, but thanks for dinner. Sure, it was nice.

New Shop Offers Deli-cious Variety of Delectable Treats

By Lynn Carver

Metro Deli and Yogurt, a new Romulus business located at 6405 Middle Belt Road, will lift you up and transport you back in time to the 1950s and '60s. The store – owned by Betsy Nasouri, 36, and managed by her husband, Fred, 43 – first opened its doors to the public on August 1, 1992.

Situated directly on the corner of Middle Belt and Beverly, Metro Deli is a bright, colorful operation.

As part of its '50s/'60s motif, the Deli boasts an old-time jukebox and a pinball machine, as well as two video games. Two large ceiling fans overlook the shop's striking color-scheme of blues, pinks, and light grays. Black and white tiles, patterned in a checkerboard style, cover the floor.

In a recent interview with manager Fred Nasouri, the West Bloomfield resident said, "We'd been looking for a delifor quite awhile when we saw a newspaper ad about this store. We came out, liked the place and its potential, and, last June, we had an agreement to buy."

Nasouri added that he has delicatessen food-service experience, as he previously owned a Detroit party store that included a deli.

Currently, the shop is in its "grand opening" phase, which Nasouri expects to continue for two more weeks. At this point, two different food specials are being offered biweekly.

Nasouri's menu now consists of deli sandwiches, submarines, soup and chili, "hard" ice cream, frozen yogurt, bakery goods, and beverages.

Plans are in the works to expand the current fare.

Explained Nasouri, "In addition to what we now have, we'll soon be adding a breakfast and dinner menu. Further down the road, if things go well, we'd like to have pizza, both for in-house dining and also for delivery."

He added that we can also look for Metro Deli's specials to expand to a weekly basis in the near future.

The Nasouris are parents to Heather, 13; Jenna, nine; and Allen, who is just nine months old.

Nasouri stated that he loves the delicatessen business mainly because he likes to deal with people.

"I like to talk to the customers, in general," he said. "Also, I have, through the years, developed a special technique for making deli sandwiches, and I like to talk to the people and see what they think of it."

Romulus Profile: Jason Lovette

By Tom Shamanski

Jason Lovette entered the U.S. Army in 1941 as a private. In 1961, he retired from the military as a lieutenant colonel, a mere two notches below the rank of general.

Upon returning to civilian life, the 35-year Romulus resident joined the Ecorse Public Schools as a high-school biology teacher. When he retired, 13 years later, it was as principal of the district's high school.

From 1963 to the present, he has served, at various times, on the Romulus Community Schools Board of Education, the Romulus Rotary, and five other service-oriented organizations. Quite obviously, Jason Lovette is not a man who does things in a half-hearted manner.

Recently, I had an opportunity to visit the 83-year-old Lovette in his lovely Romulus home. Sitting in an enclosed patio and surrounded by beautifully abundant flowers and greens, we talked. Lovette is a large, distinguished-looking man who, for the most part, seems to be soft-spoken and serious. However, he is also a person who can easily break into hearty laughter.

As we concluded our visit, I remarked that he had surely led a full life. For a moment, he was silent, staring directly into my eyes. Suddenly, he began laughing.

"Well," he said with a wide smile, "it's certainly kept me from becoming bored!"

Before entering the Army, Lovette earned a bachelor of science degree in biology and chemistry from Georgia's Savannah State University. The Georgia native later resumed his education, earning, in 1962, a master's degree in biology from Eastern Michigan University. In 1971, he attended the University of Michigan, from which he emerged with a master's degree in school administration. Also, sandwiched in-between his degrees, Lovette went to the University of Northern lowa, where he focused on advanced biochemistry.

Lovette began his extensive community and civic work in 1963, when he was elected to the Romulus Board of Education. During the 10 years that he served on the Board, the Cory, Mt. Pleasant, and Merriman elementary schools were constructed, as well as the Romulus High School auditorium.

Said Lovette, "During my last year with the Board, we passed an $11.5 million bond for the Junior High School. It was, to that point, the largest bond ever passed."

In one of many tributes to his leadership capabilities, Lovette held office in each year of his 10-year School Board tenure. He served as president for two years, vice-president for one year, and treasurer for seven years.

In 1968, while sitting on the School Board, Lovette became aware of the Romulus Rotary Club and, subsequently, became a member.

"One day," explained Lovette, "the school nurse approached me and told me that the Rotary had provided clothing and shoes for those children whose parents couldn't afford to do so. She said that she had applied to the Rotary and they had provided the necessary funds.

"I then talked to Bill Oakley (who later served in office as Mayor of Romulus), and he sponsored me. Soon after, I became a Rotarian, and am still a member to this day."

In his first year with the Rotary, Lovette served as district governor – an office of Rotary International – and worked with the 48 clubs in the Michigan counties of Wayne, Monroe, and Lenawee, as well as Essex County in Ontario, Canada.

In 1970, he was elected as a board member of the Romulus Rotary Club. This was followed by a year in each of the offices of treasurer, secretary, and, in 1973, president of the Club.

From 1980 to 1983, Lovette represented the district governor's office, heading up Club expansions. During that time, two new Clubs were chartered — one in Dearborn and the second in Windsor Roseland.

When asked why he became involved with the Rotary, Lovette replied, "First of all, Rotary is a community-service organization with its first obligation to its own community. A good example of that service is the erection of the new Veterans' Memorial that was sponsored by the Rotary.

"Secondly, the Rotary is dedicated to fostering peace and understanding throughout the world. Rotary International now consists of 1,200,000 members and has, since 1978, raised approximately $172 million for immunizing citizens of third-world countries against polio."

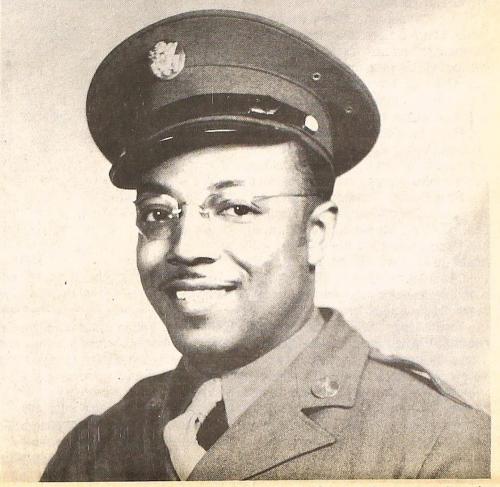

A member of the Romulus Civic League from 1963 to 1975, Lovette served as president of that organization for 10 years.

"When I first joined the Civic League, our main thrust was to provide recreation for Black youths within the community, as segregation was more of a problem at that time. Now, the League serves all youths in the community."

Lovette noted that he was president of the League when ground was broken for Romulus' Civic League Building.

Still wishing to do more for his community, Lovette served as board member for the Romulus Help Center from 1972 to 1986. Again rising to the top, he served as president of that body for a total of six years. I asked Lovette to detail the mission of the Help Center.

"Primarily, it provides counseling for Romulus youth and families. Also, services such as minor home repair, lawn care, and even personal care are given to people who, through aging or other circumstances, are unable to adequately care for themselves."

The City of Romulus' Economic Development Cooperation was formed in 1978. From its inception, Lovette has been president of the group. The organization, financed through bond issues, provides financial assistance for the economic development of the City.

Lovette said that a major project of the Development Cooperation was to help finance several Romulus hotels that are now generally associated with Metropolitan Airport. The hotels, of course, contribute heavily to Romulus' tax base.

Yet another organization that Lovette has been with since its beginnings is Romulus' Tax Increment Finance Authority, or TIFA. Currently, he holds the title of TIFA vice-president, although he was recently appointed as the group's acting president.

Family and Neighborhood Services (FNS), a community group that serves the entire out-Wayne County area, is the final organization to be able to claim Lovette as one of its members. With its main office in Inkster, Lovette has invested six years of his time with FNS.

August 26, 1992, marked the fiftieth year of marriage for Lovette and his wife Ethyl. In 1975, Ethyl retired from the Romulus Community Schools after teaching home economics at Romulus High School for 17 years.

Jason and Ethyl are the parents of three adult children.

Jason Jr., 49, lives in Inkster and works for Sears in the company's maintenance and repair division.

Phyllis is 42 years old and has one son, Bayette, who is a Romulus High School senior. Formerly, Phyllis worked for Michigan's Secretary of State Department and also for Standard Federal Bank.

Son Kary and his wife Phyllis reside in Detroit with their son Yuseff, who is 11. Kary, 40, works for the Michigan Department of Mental Health, while Phyllis is an assistant principal in the Detroit Public Schools.

In his leisure time, Lovette enjoys gardening and golfing. When the almost-daily golfer was asked how good he was, he smiled and said, "Let's just say that I work at it often!"

In the winter months, Jason and Ethylbowltogether in two mixed leagues. Besides bowling, the couple enjoys traveling and dining out. Also, they attend the Second Grace United Baptist Church, a Detroit church that was organized in the home of Ethyl's uncle, 69 years ago.

After leaving the Lovette home, I found myself thinking mostly about Lovette's 20-year military career. This was, I suspect, because, during our talk, I discovered that we both had served in Korea.

Of course, Lovette has also notched a staggering number of accomplishments since leaving the military – but, still, I kept thinking about the Army, and that Jason Lovette is a man under whom I would have been proud to serve.

Indeed, all things considered, we're all fortunate that this is a man who calls Romulus his home.

Doane Named as New Program Coordinator for City's Recreation

By Ray Tolman

Effective September 1, 1992, Rick Doane was appointed to the post of Recreation Program Coordinator by Mayor Beverly McAnally.

The 23-year-old Doane, who has worked for the Recreation Department for the last seven of his 15 years as a resident of Romulus, took over the position when the former coordinator, Tina Bertschinger, resigned to become a Westland police officer.

Recently, Doane, a 1992 Central Michigan University graduate, was interviewed and asked to outline his future goals for the Recreation Department.

Said Doane, "I want to make the Recreation Department, and all its activities, more visible to the people of Romulus. I would especially like to see more adults get involved with our programs.

"Also, there are a number of new programs that I will be setting up for residents of all ages."

To this point, Doane has already instituted five new recreational activities. These include adult basketball, adult volleyball, euchre tournaments, adult trivia night, and a Thanksgiving basketball free-throw tournament in which the winners will receive free turkeys. Additionally, Doane has set up a suggestion box in the Recreation Department, located at 36515 Bibbins.

"I would like to do more," he added, "but, without our own recreation building, it becomes a difficult thing to do."

In addition to the newly created programs, the Recreation Department currently offers several other activities. A partial listing of these would include adult softball, adult co-ed aerobics, youth and adult karate, youth gymnastics and dance, and an annual Christmas treelighting ceremony, kicked off by North Pole native, Santa Claus.

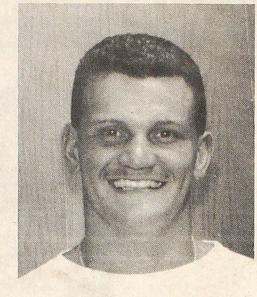

Other offerings are a mother/son Valentine's Day dance, a father/daughter sweetheart dance, and the summer youth program, which consists of organized activities — arts & crafts, swimming, field trips, etc. — especially tailored for five- to 14-year-old youths. The program, held at various Romulus elementary schools, takes place from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., Mondays through Thursdays, throughout the summer months.

Although 23 is a relatively young age for a person holding the position of Recreation Program Coordinator, Doane is loaded with recreational experience, having worked in all aspects of the Romulus Recreation Department.

Stated Doane, "For the past seven years, I would work during the summers and whenever there were any other school breaks.

"During those times, I assisted the then-Program Coordinator, as well as the Recreation Department Director. Through that experience, I've done, or have assisted with, almost all the activities that we have."

A good example of this experience is Doane's yearly direction of the adult softball league. Within the league, he did everything from scheduling games and necessary meetings to ensuring that the playing fields were properly prepared for each game.

Doane's mother, Kathy Klages, is likewise a longtime Romulus resident. Currently, she works as a secretary for Taylor's Quality Pipe Company.

Doane has one brother, 18-year-old Michael, who is interested in finding full-time work in the machinery field.

Of Doane's three sisters, Paula – the oldest at 22 – attends cosmetology school; Juli, 20, is in nursing school; and 13-year-old Trina is an eighth-grader at Romulus Junior High School.

When queried as to why he accepted the Recreation Program Coordinator post, Doane replied, "I enjoy all types of recreation and sports, and I want to make a difference for the people of Romulus in this respect.

"Also, I really enjoy working with kids, and I hope our recreational activities can be helpful in getting some children out of difficult home environments."

For further information about the Recreation Department and its programs, call 942-6852.

Positive Support Seminars

On September 24, at Merriman School, three Positive Support Seminars will be presented by Bertie Synowiec for teachers, students, and parents to help build a more positive school and home environment.

Synowiec is a National speaker on self-esteem issues, co-dependency, and substance-abuse prevention. She works as a consultant in Michigan schools and is a teacher, author, and parent of five children.

The student seminar, "Believe You Can and You Can," will help students to see their own value and to recognize their ability to influence others in a positive way. "Energizing Ourselves To Energize Others as We Build Selfesteem" is the topic of the afternoon staff in-service. The evening seminar, "Positive Parenting Through Positive Communication," will be for both children and parents. This will be at Merriman School from 7 to 8:30 p.m.

The seminars are being funded by a "Teacher Mini-grant" from the State Department of Education, which was applied for by sixth-grade teacher Mrs. Germaine and awarded to Merriman School.

A Point of Law

Child-support Payments

By Murray A. Duncan, Jr., attorney

A payor's child-support obligation expires ten (10) years after the last payment is due pursuant with the Statute of Limitations.

The Statute of Limitations is a law prescribing limitations on bringing suit. It is a law that says that no suit may be maintained unless it is brought within a specified period of time after the right accrued. Generally, a suit to collect backdue child support must be brought within ten (10) years from the date that the last payment was due.

However, if the payor makes payments on his/her child-support arrearage after the Statute of Limitations has run, then the payor has acknowledged the validity of the obligation, and that would waive the Statute of Limitations and start a new 10-year period.

Also, the Statute of Limitations would not begin to run until the payor has stopped making payments. For example, if a father owed $10,000 in back child-support, and his children have all reached the age of 18, then, generally, the Statute of Limitations would begin to run when his youngest child attains 18 years of age. However, if the father waits nine (9) years and then makes a child-support payment, then the Statute of Limitations would start over from the date of the payment.

If you have a legal question that you would like answered, you may send it to me and I will attempt to address it in a future issue of this paper.

Questions should be mailed to: Murray A. Duncan, Jr., attorney, 10000 South Wayne Road, Romulus, Michigan 48174.

From Bass to Perch

By Captain Ron Dubsky, Ice Breaker II Sport-fishing Charters (313-941-3529) Bass Tournament

On Saturday, September 18, the TNT Bass Club held its fourth annual Bass Classic at Belleville Lake. The weather man cooperated, as did the fish. This reporter saw many fish weighed in; most of the bass averaged two to three pounds and were in great shape.

After all the teams weighed in their fish, the 1992 Classic Champs – Mel Glazier and Roger Bentley, both of Belleville – were announced. Their catch had a total weight of 14 pounds and eight ounces. Great job, guys.

The largest bass of the day was a four-pound, 12-ounce smallmouth caught by John Brooker, also of Belleville. Good job, John.

After the weigh-in, Tim Katona from South Street Tackle in Belleville gave out the awards to all the winners. It was a fine afternoon, with the participants meeting at Hope's Fish and Chips for a terrific dinner.

The 1992 season for the TNT ended with a fine finale: Of the total 579 bass caught in 1992, only three were unable to be returned to the Lake alive, thanks to the fishermen and -women who took great care of their catches.

A short note: Mel Glazier, who was one of the '92 champs, fished a bass tournament the next day on Sandusky Bay in Ohio – and guess what? He won that tournament, as well. Great job, Mel. Lake Erie Perch

That's right: The perch are running in Lake Erie. My charters are producing three to four hundred perch per trip. Sizes are six to 10 inches. The larger perch will be running as the water cools down. Ice Breaker will be doing these trips till the end of November, weather permitting.

Streams "Up North" are producing fine catches of steelhead and salmon. When you start deer hunting, take your rod with you.... It might surprise you.

Sandy's Marina on Belleville Lake reports that the bluegill fishing is the most consistent, both from the boats and from the shore.

That's all for now. It sure is great to be back. My salmon experiences this past August were sensational. We will talk about them in a later issue.

Mel Glazier and Roger Bentley, 1992 Classic Champs.

John Brooker, largest bass (four pounds, eight ounces).

Teen Talk: Health

Resolving Patient Confidentiality Dilemmas

By Kathleen Conway, Director, Romulus Adolescent Health Center

Several months ago, a student came into the Health Center, bleeding and complaining of cramps. She said she was pregnant. On examining her, the staff at the Center became concerned that perhaps she was having a miscarriage. She was told that she should go immediately to a hospital for care.

The girl panicked. She had no health insurance and no money. She also had not told her parents that she was pregnant, and she was terrified to do so. She was afraid of their reaction to the news. She asked us to send her to the hospital without telling her parents.

We were caught in a dilemma. First of all, we had to find a hospital that would take her without health insurance, and also would service her without a parent's consent. Through phone calls, we were able to locate a hospital that would take her

However, the other question was harder to answer. Even though Michigan law (not just Health Center policy) allows a minor to receive prenatal care without parental permission, we felt uncomfortable sending a girl to the hospital for emergency care and possible hospitalization without her parents knowing. Further, the law states that a health-care provider (any provider, not just the Health Center) may, not must, maintain confidentiality in caring for minors. The law states that the provider can, and should, break confidentiality if it is in the minor's best interests.

We told the girl that she must get to a hospital as soon as possible, and that we did not feel that it was in her best interest to send her without a parent accompanying her. We told her that she must talk to her mother, tell her that she was pregnant, and have her mother take her to the hospital for care. Very reluctantly, the girl did so, and her mother did take her to the hospital.

On another occasion, a girl came to see the counselor and told her of detailed suicide plans. The counselor felt that this girl was seriously in danger of hurting herself. She told the girl that she would call her parents and have the girl admitted to a hospital.

The girl was furious; she felt that her trust had been violated, that she'd come to the Center to talk and didn't want her parents to know about her drug and alcohol use. But the counselor explained that her parents needed to know what was troubling her, and that she was serious about suicide plans.

Every day, the Center is confronted with these kinds of dilemmas. The staff must look at what is in the best interest of the child, yet it would be impossible for us to make decisions without considering the full ramifications for the minor's parents as well as the adolescent herself.

Sometimes, it's hard for the teens - and, I'm sure, for their parents, as well to understand the law. However, the law is designed to protect the minor while maintaining the integrity of the family. All too often, however, we see teens who are caught in family situations that are distressing, neglectful, or outright abusive. Sometimes, the teen's confidentiality must be maintained to protect them from further harm or abuse at home. Sometimes, teens use that for an excuse to escape responsibility. And, sometimes, parents must be informed, and confidentiality breached, to protect the minor's welfare, even if the teen doesn't think that he is being protected.

Everyone should understand that the State laws regarding medical care for minors are very clear, but leave room for individual discretion. Minors can receive prenatal care, mental-health counseling, family-planning services, substanceabuse diagnosis and treatment, and testing and treatment for sexually transmitted diseases without a parent's consent. These laws have been written to protect the child, not exclude the parents. And obviously, in a family where teens can talk with their parents, or where abusive or neglectful situations don't exist, such laws aren't necessary. But, for many kids, the laws are necessary to provide protection and care that they may not get

The Romulus Adolescent Health Center is located in Romulus High School, 9650 South Wayne Road. The Center serves Romulus residents - students and nonstudents - between the ages of 10 and 21, and special-education students to age 26. Children to age five can receive immunizations. Blue Cross, Medicaid, and private insurances are accepted. Fees are affordable and vary according to the patient's ability to pay. No one is denied services if unable to pay. Appointments are usually necessary; some walk-ins are accepted. Parents must sign a consent form for their child to be seen at the Center. Call 941-1400 for appointments or information.

Community Urged To Support Annual "Crop Walk" Benefit

On Sunday, October 4, at 1:15 p.m., walkers will be gathering at the Community United Methodist Church on the corner of Olive and Bibbins for their annual walk to Belleville to raise money for relief, medicine, and food for needy people in the Romulus-Belleville area and around the world. This year, a significant portion of the money will be used to help those devastated by Hurricane Andrew and Hurricane Inniki.

Also this year, more people will be able to walk because the distance is 10 kilometers — about 6.2 miles. Walkers will follow Huron River Drive to arrive at their destination, the Trinity Episcopal Church. Provision will be made to help walkers get back to Romulus, if needed.

Last year, the Romulus community raised $5,361 with 73 walkers and 33 business pledges. The goal for this year is to raise over $15,000 and to have 225 walkers. Carolyn Landis, the Romulus coordinator, would like to have a good showing of 150 walkers or more. Please call 941-0736 if you would like to walk.

The walk is great exercise as well as fun for the community, and it helps others.

This year, 25% of the funds raised will go to Wayne Metro Soup Kitchen at Beverly and Wayne roads, the Helping Hand Thrift Shop, Belleville Methodist Food Closet, and St. Vincent DePaul of Belleville.

Students from Romulus High School who walk will receive credit points for their class for Homecoming's Spirit Week. Please see Mrs. Gail Coleman at the High School for more information.

Those who would like to walk a greater distance are welcome to do so, and persons who want to walk, but feel that they cannot make the entire distance, are also invited to participate.

All checks collected are to be made out to CWS/Crop. Also, this year, walkers are being asked to total their own collection money and make out one check to CWS/Crop.

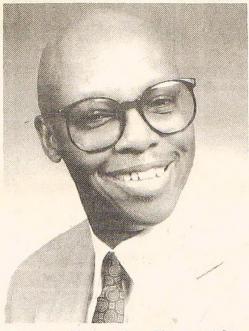

For more information on where Crop money is currently being sent, please call 1-800-456-1310. □

You Can Help to Provide Food, Medicine, and Relief to Those Who Need It Most . . .

By supporting the annual Crop Walk, either with your participation or your pledge, you will be helping unfortunate people in your neighborhood and around the world.

The Romulus Eagles are 3-0!

The classy Eagles football team defeated Taylor Truman in its season-opening game on September 4 by a score of 21-7

The following Friday, September 11, the Eagles played a thriller against Garden City, edging them by a score of 22-21 in overtime.

Last Friday's game against Brooklyn Columbia Central was a blowout. In their 42-0 victory, the Eagles were again aggressive on both defense and offense, the latter of which was led by quarterback Bob Bergeron and the running of Phillip Franklin and Brian Helka. Girls' Tennis

Congratulations to the girls' tennis team for its second-place finish in the News-Herald Invitational on Saturday. Danielle Franklin took a first place at first singles, and Erin Reinhackel and Dawn Hoinka took a first at fourth doubles.

Silver Medal winners were Michelle Slawinski, Keilani Buckley, Jamie Taylor, Jamie McGraw, Diane Kehn, and Alicia Fitzhugh. Winning a Bronze Medal was Lisa Decker.

Girls' Basketball

A late charge fell short as the lady Eagles lost to Belleville, 66-55. A fine effort was led by Cassandra Jackson, who had 14 points and 11 rebounds; Stephanie Vit, with 10 points and 11 rebounds; and LaTonya Pankey, with 10 points and nine rebounds.

Also putting forth an excellent effort were Tiffany Gregory, Petrina Sewell, Andrea Brown, and Eboni Talley. Their hustling play made a difference in the game.

Just Married

Chafins/Rossier and Frietas/Chafins

Recently married in a beautiful double ceremony were Michael and Angie (Rossier) Chafins and Jim and Carol (Chafins) Frietas.

Siblings Mike and Carol decided on the double wedding because they wanted to share their special day together.

The two couples exchanged their vows on June 20, 1992.

Standing up with Mike and Angie in the ceremony were groomsmen Kevin LaLone and Steve Chafins, and bridesmaids Christine Skiver and Sherry Uren.

Groomsmen Mark Kline and John Kelbassa and bridesmaids Dawn Sparagowski and Nawasa Bradbury stood up with Jim and Carol.

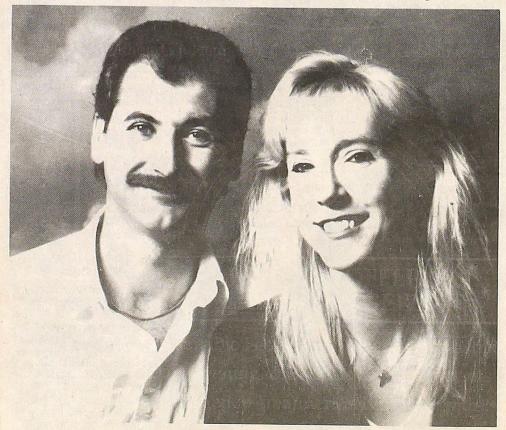

Mike and Carol Chafins are the children of Terry and Linda Kelbassa. Angie is the daughter of Arizona and Sylvia Rossier, while Jim is the son of Ron and Debbie Moesta.

Jim and Carol Frietas will reside in Ansbach, Germany, since Jim – a member of the United States Army – is currently stationed there. The couple honeymooned in Niagara Falls, Canada.

Mike and Angie Chafins will continue to live in Taylor with their son Cody. They honeymooned in Sarasota, Florida.
